

Everyone else is interested in what's under your kilt... are you?

For further information visit www.tartanchecks.org

CahonasScotland
Tackling Male Cancer Awareness

Scottish Registered Charity SC040786

Testicular Cancer is the most common cancer in men aged 15-44, but can affect men of all ages. A simple, regular self check may help you detect early signs of the disease.

Testicular Cancer is easier to treat if caught early. Check yourself regularly and look out for the warning signs.

Tartan Checks is a campaign from Male Cancer Awareness charity Cahonas Scotland aiming to encourage and educate men on Testicular Cancer and how to identify early signs.

No embarrassment, no beamers, no riddys...
get checking under your kilt today!

